Do you have an angel at your workplace? Someone who always comes through when no one else does, or who offers to do the jobs no one else wants to do? Or perhaps a client, one who always comes through for you and sticks by your company through thick and thin? Consider the Round Halo Acrylic Award to honor an individual, team or even a client who portrays that angelic spirit. This 1" thick Round Halo Acrylic Award will bring a smile to someone at your next corporate function and gives you plenty of opportunities to say just the right thing to make them feel special. It comes in either a small (5-3/8") circumference or large (6-3/8") circumference and stands all by itself to grace a desk, shelf or special mantel for all to see. We also add some color to the Round Halo Acrylic Award to accompany a corporate logo or theme. Using a bottom-filled color process, the blue or gold is applied for a nice highlight to an already beautiful acrylic award. You can have it laser engraved with a special message and company logo. EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT: Max McDevitt

Team spirit and enthusiasm for work is contagious, and our Employee of the Quarter, Max Evans makes sure that everyone throughout the company shares in this dynamic attitude. His great sense of humor makes work fun for everyone and certainly livens up the workplace here at Trophies2Go. Max is very ambitious, having plans to attend a 4 year University and then graduate school. He was a 4 time record-breaking track star at his high school and has played the guitar in several bands, which showcases his dedication.

Even though he is only 18, Max’s great work ethic is apparent. In his own words; “My key to success is attitude. No matter how frustrating situations and individuals become, there is always a positive way to look at things.”

We like that attitude Max, and are happy to have you on our team.
